About GEMA Business School

GEMA was founded in 1982 and is specialized in designing, promoting and delivering Education Programmes for consumers and businesses.

It's one of the ten leading independent Business Schools in Italy, with a huge and consolidated experience in managing postgraduate Programmes in particular for young people.

It designs and implements the entire training project chain, from the fund raising to the project delivering and manages "complex" projects for large national and multinational companies, SMEs and business consortia.

HR, Marketing, Project Management, People Management, Digital Transformation and Sustainability Business are the key topics.

About the Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME)

The Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME) is a United Nations-supported initiative founded in 2007 that aims to raise the profile of sustainability in their classrooms through Seven Principles focused on serving society and safeguarding our planet.

PRME engages business and management schools to ensure they provide future leaders with the skills needed to balance economic and sustainability goals, while drawing attention to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and aligning academic institutions with the work of the UN Global Compact. Driven by its mission to transform management education, PRME equips today's business students with the understanding and ability to deliver change tomorrow. As a voluntary initiative with over 800 signatories worldwide, PRME has become the largest organized relationship between the United Nations and management-related higher education institutions.

“The PRME initiative was launched to nurture responsible leaders of the future. Never has this task been more important. Bold leadership and innovative thinking are needed to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Antonio Guterres

Secretary-General (2017 - Present)

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

In September 2015, all 193 Member States of the United Nations adopted a plan for achieving a better future for all – laying out a path over the next 15 years to end extreme poverty, fight inequality and injustice, and protect our planet. At the heart of Agenda 2030 are 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and 169 related targets that address the most important economic, social, environmental and governance challenges of our time. The SDGs clearly define the world we want – applying to all nations and leaving no one behind. Successful implementation of the SDGs will require all players to champion this agenda; the role of higher education is critical to this.

Getting Started

This section provides foundational information about GEMA Business School, including key details and basic institutional data.

Mission

GEMA Business School's mission is to educate conscious, competent, and responsible individuals, capable of facing the future with autonomy and vision. Through a "learning by doing" approach, GEMA transforms learning into a practical and transformative experience, placing the individual at the center and enhancing personal talent. As a Benefit Corporation, GEMA integrates economic objectives with goals of common benefit, promoting inclusion, equality, and organizational well-being, and allocating part of its revenues to scholarships for young people in economic hardship.

This commitment is reflected in the school's motto: "We illuminate talent" expressing the desire to help each individual discover and enhance their abilities.

Vision

GEMA Business School's vision is based on the idea of education that goes beyond the mere transmission of technical skills. The goal is to train individuals capable of leading change with ethics, respect, and vision, focusing on personal and professional growth. GEMA is committed to creating an inclusive and sustainable environment where each person can discover and enhance their talents, thereby contributing to a more equitable and aware society

Strategy Alignment

Strategic alignment

GEMA Business School's transformation into a "Società Benefit" (Benefit Corporation) signifies a profound commitment to aligning its strategic priorities with advancing sustainable development, the common good, and quality education.¹ This move goes beyond mere corporate social responsibility; it legally embeds these objectives into the school's mission and operations.

Here's how GEMA's strategic priorities align with these goals, based on the recent announcements:

1. Advancing Sustainable Development:

- Promoting a culture of sustainability: GEMA aims to instill a business culture rooted in environmental, social, and economic sustainability. This will be achieved through the adoption of virtuous practices within the school and the dissemination of best practices among the companies it engages with.
- Integrating sustainability into curriculum: The emphasis on "Digital Transformation and Sustainability Business" as key topics within their programs, along with specific courses like the "Executive Master in Sustainability Management" and "Master in Gestione Sostenibile e Innovativa del Business," indicates a strategic focus on educating future leaders who can drive sustainable change.²

- Addressing current challenges: The mention of "sustainability" and "conscious leadership" as new elements in their Master in Human Resources Management program, alongside artificial intelligence, shows an understanding of the evolving demands of the market and the need to equip professionals with skills relevant to a sustainable future.

2. Promoting the Common Good:

- Operating for public benefit: As a Società Benefit, GEMA has formally committed to operating not solely for profit but also for the common good.³ This means their actions will have a positive and measurable impact on society.
- Community engagement: GEMA plans to support its local territory and communities through volunteering initiatives, collaborations with local entities, and third-sector organizations, and the promotion of projects with social value. This reinforces their commitment to a broader societal impact beyond their direct educational offerings.
- Ethical and responsible business practices: The very nature of being a Società Benefit implies a transparent and accountable approach to business, emphasizing ethical conduct and a commitment to positive social and environmental outcomes.

3. Enhancing Quality Education:

- Accessible and inclusive education: GEMA is committed to ensuring "excellent, accessible, and inclusive education" that prepares young people to face the challenges of the job market and contribute actively to sustainable development. This speaks to a focus on broad access and relevance.
- Industry-aligned and up-to-date programs: Their existing strong ties with the corporate world and entrepreneurial associations, coupled with accreditations from organizations like ASFOR, SHRM, and PMI, demonstrate a long-standing commitment to high-quality, industry-relevant education.⁴ The continuous updating of programs, as seen with the integration of AI and sustainability into the HR Master, further reinforces this.
- Developing skilled professionals for a better future: By focusing on "valorization of talents, skills development, and the growth of people and organizations," GEMA's core mission naturally aligns with quality education. The transformation into a Società Benefit adds another layer, ensuring that this quality education also serves to build a more sustainable and equitable future.
- International perspective: Their partnerships with prestigious international universities like Saint Joseph's University and the University of Greenwich, and the delivery of programs in English and French, indicate a commitment to a global standard of education, equipping students for an interconnected world where sustainable development is a shared responsibility.

In essence, GEMA Business School's shift to a Società Benefit formalizes and strengthens its existing commitment to impactful education. Its strategic priorities now explicitly integrate the principles of sustainable development and the common good into every facet of its operations, from curriculum design to community engagement, positioning it as a leader in preparing professionals for a more responsible and sustainable future.
