About the Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME)

The Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME) is a United Nations-supported initiative founded in 2007 that aims to raise the profile of sustainability in their classrooms through Seven Principles focused on serving society and safeguarding our planet.

PRME engages business and management schools to ensure they provide future leaders with the skills needed to balance economic and sustainability goals, while drawing attention to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and aligning academic institutions with the work of the UN Global Compact. Driven by its mission to transform management education, PRME equips today's business students with the understanding and ability to deliver change tomorrow. As a voluntary initiative with over 800 signatories worldwide, PRME has become the largest organized relationship between the United Nations and management-related higher education institutions.

“ The PRME initiative was launched to nurture responsible leaders of the future. Never has this task been more important. Bold leadership and innovative thinking are needed to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

In September 2015, all 193 Member States of the United Nations adopted a plan for achieving a better future for all – laying out a path over the next 15 years to end extreme poverty, fight inequality and injustice, and protect our planet. At the heart of Agenda 2030 are 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and 169 related targets that address the most important economic, social, environmental and governance challenges of our time. The SDGs clearly define the world we want – applying to all nations and leaving no one behind. Successful implementation of the SDGs will require all players to champion this agenda; the role of higher education is critical to this.

Letter of Commitment

Bled, November 13, 2025

Statement of the IEDC-Bled School of Management's Commitment to the PRME - Principles for Responsible Management Education

Prof. Dr. Mislav Ante
Omazić
President of IEDC-Bled School of Management

We are proud that the IEDC-Bled School of Management was among the very first signatories of the Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME) and continues to be an active member of both the PRME Champions group and the PRME CEE Chapter. From its establishment, IEDC has been guided by a clear mission: to develop responsible, ethical, and creative leaders who contribute positively to business and society. Our long-standing engagement with PRME reflects this mission and reinforces our commitment to shaping management education that is grounded in sustainability, integrity, and societal impact.

We hereby reaffirm IEDC's continued dedication to PRME and to its mission of advancing responsible management, corporate sustainability, and ethical leadership. These values are embedded across our curricula, research, institutional culture, and partnerships, and they remain central to our identity as a school with strong regional influence and global reach. Our collaboration through the Coca-Cola Chair for Sustainable Development, the World Institute for Sustainability and Ethics (WISE), and our long-standing cooperation within the CEEMAN network further strengthens our capacity to advance sustainable development and responsible business practices.

In this SIP report, we present the progress IEDC has made in integrating the PRME Principles into our teaching, learning, research, partnerships, and operations. The report demonstrates our ongoing efforts to embed sustainability and responsibility into all aspects of our work, from program development and pedagogical innovation to applied research and institutional initiatives that reduce our environmental footprint. We remain committed to transparency and will continue to share information on our progress with our stakeholders through our regular communication channels.

Dr. Mirjana Matešić
Coca-Cola Chair for Sustainable Development
at IEDC

We extend our sincere appreciation to the faculty, staff, students, alumni, and partners who support and advance responsible management education at IEDC. As we move forward, we will continue to strengthen our contribution to the PRME community, the Sustainable Development Goals, and the development of leaders equipped to address the challenges and opportunities of a rapidly changing world.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Mislav Ante Omazić
